Third Invasion Dooms Borneo

By SPENCER DAVIS

MANILA, July 2 (AP) — Australian troops made a successful major landing at Balikpapan Sunday in the third phase of a triple invasion of Borneo. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who is in personal command, said this secured domination of all Borneo, split the East Indies and virtually completed Allied tactical control of the entire southwest Pacific.

Japanese resistance was aggressive to light as the tough infantry and tank troops of the veteran Australian Seventh Division smashed ashore in the suburbs of the Far East's greatest oil center behind the most intensive preinvasion bombardment yet unleashed in this theater.

Opposition increased as the Australians thrust steadily inland.

By the middle of the afternoon they had won the last ridge looking down on the ruins of the town and refinery and its still blazing oil storage tanks.

They had taken an elaborate series of tunnels and pillboxes which the Japanese had deserted in the face of the furious naval and air onslaught.

Toughest opposition was on this last ridge, which Associated Press Correspondent James Hutchison said was littered with dead Japs, bombs and artillery fire, although others were chopped down by Australian machine gunners and tanks.

Although commanders had anticipated strong defense of this strongly-gunned enemy base, first losses were declared officially to have been light.

This was due in part to the 3500-ton month-long bombing by the U. S. 13th and Fifth Air Forces and to the shell and rocket fire from the U. S. Seventh Fleet, with Dutch and Australian units supporting the landing.

Japanese shore guns which had escaped being knocked out in the aerial softening-up fired back sporadically at some of the more than 300 invasion ships, but their defense was ineffective.

MacArthur himself went ashore and climbed to a ridge for a view of the inferno of smashed oil installations.

"I think today we settled the score of that Makassar Straits affair of three and a half years ago," he commented, referring to the bold but vain effort of four old American destroyers in January, 1942, to stop Japanese convoys heading south for the invasion of Java.

In a communique, MacArthur said today that the strategic straits now were "controlled by our surface craft as well as by air and submarine" and that "our shipping can now sail with land-based air cover to any point in the Southwest Pacific."

British Sub Sinks Jap Cruiser

WASHINGTON, July 2 (INS) — The Navy announces Allied submarines have sunk a heavy Jap cruiser, two smaller warships and eight supply vessels.

A British submarine destroyed a 10,000-ton Jap cruiser of the Haguro class.

The other enemy vessels were destroyed by American submarines and included a converted gunboat, a patrol escort vessel, four medium merchantmen, one large tanker, two small merchant vessels and one small tanker.

Jap Loss 30-1 In Philippines

By DEAN SCHEDLER

MANILA, July 2 (AP) — With scattered Japanese units cracking before the steady advance of Americans and Filipino guerrillas, enemy losses in the Philippines have risen to 419,035, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters said today.

The total includes 9774 prisoners, some of whom are predicting an early peace.

The enemy retained several strongholds on Luzon in the mountains northeast of Baguio, including Bontoc, Mankayan and Kiangnan. Resistance at Kiangnan was reported weakening.

Most American forces were resting after their long campaign. In the Cagayan Valley, fighting was principally between guerrillas and isolated bands of disorganized Japanese.

A War Dept. intelligence officer, Col. Albert L. Warner, said American forces have lost 11,715 killed and 1131 missing in the Philippines campaign—a ratio of 31 Japanese dead for every American dead or missing. His estimate of Japanese dead in the Philippines was 300,000.

Report 12 GIs Killed On German Train

LONDON, July 2 (INS) —

Twelve American soldiers tonight were reported to have been killed and many injured yesterday when a Germany-bound leave train crashed into a freight train in France three miles north of Nancy.

The Luxembourg radio, in broadcasting the report, said approximately 1000 U. S. soldiers were aboard the train returning to Germany from leave on the Riviera.

Fires Sweep 4 Jap Cities After Record B-29 Raids

By LEIF ERICKSON

GUAM, July 3 (AP) — Fierce fires raged through four Japanese cities today, touched off by a record 4000 tons of incendiary bombs rained down by nearly 600 Superfortresses. It was the greatest fire strike ever made.

Bomber crews returning from the early morning raid said some fires were visible 120 miles away. Formations hitting three industrial cities on southern Honshu, main island of Japan, would see the glow from other flaming cities railed by other flights.

(Two B-29s were lost in the raid but 20 crew members of the planes were rescued, 20th Air Force headquarters reported in Washington. The Superfortresses normally carry crews of 11 each.) Officially results were "good to excellent." Jubilant airmen described the raid on Kure naval base as "wonderful."

Veteran raiders said "the best fire concentration" they've ever seen lighted Ube, Japan's greatest magnesium producing center. The entire waterfront was aflame, with a strong wind fanning the fire.

Brig. Gen. John Davies of the Tinian-based 313th Wing said his bombardiers were able to release their incendiaries visually on Ube with excellent results. Overcast forced bombardiers to use instruments over other targets, and prevented detailed observation of the success of the raids.

Other blows by smaller planes harassed the enemy from Java to Japan's inland sea, sinking or damaging 26 ships and crippling airfields and supply bases.

The B-29s struck before dawn at these targets—all fire bombed for the first time:

Kure—greatest naval base and shipyard on the inland sea.

Shimonoseki — vulnerable bottleneck of rail transportation at the western entrance to the inland sea; served as embarkation point for troops and supplies moving to Korea and North China.

Kumamoto — transportation, commercial and military training center, one of the most important cities industrially in western Kyushu.

Ube—Major coal-producing center and top magnesium maker of the empire.

BULLETINS

WASHINGTON (July 2 (AP)—A medium force of about 50 B-29s raided industrial plants at Shimotsu, south of Osaka, on the main Japanese home island of Honshu today. The raiders, flying from the Marianas, delivered the attack at night (Japanese time), dropping explosive bombs.

Japs Declare WAC Pilots Shot Down

LONDON, July 2 (AP) — The Tokyo radio said today three American aircraft piloted by women had been shot down over Kweilin, China.

"Thus it is assumed that a shortage of American air crews is so acute that women are now being employed on operational duties," said the broadcast.

The planes were "down by American girls dressed in smart outfits which may have been designed by Walt Disney because they were so natty," said a Tokyo broadcast heard in San Francisco.

Tokyo declared this "amazing fact" came to light when women pilots raided Kweilin last Saturday.

"Since they were women," the report concluded, "their aerial technique was inferior and they immediately fell prey to Japanese flak."

Quizzes Truman On Jap Terms

WASHINGTON, July 2 (INS) —

Sen. White, Republican Senate leader, called on President Truman today for a definition of "unconditional surrender" in the hope it might shorten the Jap war.

White took the Senate floor shortly after President Truman had delivered personally his appeal for speedy approval of the San Francisco charter.

The Republican leader—who explained he was speaking as an individual Senator, declared that definition of "unconditional surrender" as involving only complete destruction of the war machine—but not of the family life and home of the Japanese—might bring an earlier peace.

Chinese Capture Weichow Island

CHUNGKING, July 2 (INS) — Chinese forces battled to enlarge their foothold in French Indo-China today after clearing Japanese remnants from Weichow island in Tonkin Gulf.

The tiny island west of Luchoo peninsula and astride the enemy sea route to southeast Asia fell during mopping-up operations.

Boy, 13, Is Held In Sister Killing

SPRINGFIELD, July 2—Earl V. Laurie, Jr., 13, the youngest juvenile ever charged with manslaughter in western Massachusetts, was held in $20,000 bail for the grand jury today in connection with the sex slaying of his 6-year-old sister, Hazel, June 21.

Dry Breeze Due to Ease Boston Heat

William H. Tracy, government meteorologist from Caffala, officially took charge of the weather bureau here today and immediately panned the weather.

"Uncomfortable," said Tracy, who took the place of G. Harold Noyes, retired. The humidity," he added.

The mercury rose to 83 as early as 9:30 but by mid-afternoon had risen only three points. The humidity then was 53 per cent. The day was less humid than yesterday and dryer air masses were due to roll in from the west and northwest.

For tonight and tomorrow the forecast was fair, with a minimum temperature near 66 tonight. Tomorrow the day will be cooler and not so humid, with gentle to moderate winds, the forecaster said. Pleasant weather was expected through Wednesday.

Yesterday, the hottest July 1 since 1872, saw three deaths from prostration and nine by drowning. The mercury rose to 93, only two degrees below Saturday's mark, an extreme humidity driving more than 1,000,000 persons to metropolitan beaches, according to police estimate.

Baltic weather appeared to be in store for the July holiday.

Tag 1500 Cars Without Stamps

In the first move of a statewide drive against motorists who have failed to purchase the $5 use tax stamp, internal revenue agents investigated all autos in the Fore River and Hingham parking areas today.

By mid-afternoon more than 1500 autos had been tagged in the parking areas of the two shipyards and in Quincy, streets by the federal inspectors when they found machines which did not have the stamps displayed.

The tags instructed the delinquent buyers to purchase stamps immediately and display them prominently in order to avoid further action.

President Asks Speedy Charter OK

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—President Truman presented the United Nations charter in person to the Senate today and urged its "prompt ratification."

Maj. Stevens On Way to U. S. To Aid Imogene

NEW CANAAN, Ct., July 2 (INS)—Maj. George H. Stevens, III, was expected here within 48 hours to stand by his wife, Imogene, Texas beauty charged with slaying a sailor.

Maj. Stevens, paratroop officer stationed in Germany, is believed enroute by plane.

Mrs. Stevens is being held in $50,000 bail for the shooting of Albert Kovacs, 19.

A coroner's report held Mrs. Stevens "criminally responsible" for Kovacs' death. She had admitted shooting him when he allegedly refused to leave the house of her nextdoor neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Milton.

The coroner's report charged Mrs. Stevens was intoxicated at the time and angered after a quarrel with Mrs. Milton over the affections of the latter's husband.

Truman Asks Facts on Food

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—President Truman told his new Secretary of Agriculture today he wants to be kept closely informed on developments in the food situation.

The Secretary, former Rep. Clinton B. Anderson of New Mexico, called on Mr. Truman to ask how much of the food question should be carried on to the White House.

"He seems to be very anxious to keep personally informed on the question of food," Anderson told reporters later.

He arranged a later date with the Chief Executive to discuss the food front in detail.

"The choice before the Senate is now clear," said the Chief Executive.

The President arrived in the Senate at 1:03 p. m., delivered the charter and in a brief, pointed speech reminded the lawmakers that the whole world is watching for "our action."

The President was accompanied on the drive from the White House to the capitol by his secretaries, War Mobilization Director Fred M. Vinson and other government officials.

In gray suit and blue bow tie, the smiling President was escorted into the packed chamber by the Senate leaders of both major parties, plus the two Senators who worked diligently at San Francisco for enactment of the charter: Connally of Texas and Vandenberg of Michigan.

The following is the text: "It is good of you to let me come back among you. You know, I am sure, how much (he) means to one who served so recently in this chamber."

"I have just brought down from the White House and have delivered to your presiding officer the charter of the United Nations. It was signed in San Francisco on June 26, 1945—six days ago—by the representatives of 50 nations. The statute of the International Court of Justice is annexed to the charter."

"I am appearing to ask for the ratification of the charter, and the statute annexed thereto, in accordance with the Constitution."

The charter which I bring you has been written in the name of "We, the peoples of the United Nations."

"Those peoples—stretching all over the face of the earth—will watch our action here with great concern and high hope. For they look to this body of elected representatives of the people of the United States to take the lead in approving the charter and statute and pointing the way for the rest of the world."

This charter and the principles on which it is based are not new to the United States Senate or to the House of Representatives.

"Over a year and a half ago, the Senate, after thorough debate, adopted the Connally resolution, which contained the essence of this charter. It called for 'a general international organization based on the principle of the sovereign equality of all peace loving states, and open to membership by all such states, large and small, for the maintenance of international peace and security. What I am now presenting to the Senate carried out completely this expression of national and international necessity."

"Shortly before that, the House of Representatives passed the Fulbright resolution—also favoring the creation of international machinery with participation by the United States."

"You and the House of Representatives thus had a hand in shaping the Dumbarton Oaks proposals, upon which the charter has been based."

"No international document"

Stork to Visit Frank Morgans, Hal Roachs

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, July 2 — Old Doc Stork has been busier than the proverbial cranberry merchant here.

Perhaps the stork's most unexpected visit is scheduled at the home of actor Frank Morgan and his wife of 30 years. It is almost unbelievable, for the Morgans have a son in his late 20s, yet it is true. And the Morgans are really happy.

The Hal Roach, Sr., verify that in December they will welcome a baby. The Roaches were married several years ago and this baby will be younger than Hal, Sr.'s grandchild. The two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Roach, Jr.

Director Howard Hawks' wife is expecting an addition to the family in about five months. Mrs. Hawks, one of Hollywood's most stunning women, is credited with discovering Lauren Bacall, now Mrs. Humphrey Bogart.

This is their first child, although Howard has two by previous marriages.

Washing Machines On Way to Market

15 Million Port Fund Battle On

Proponents of the $15,000,000 appropriation for Boston port development, slashed to $5,000,000 by the House ways and means committee, marshaled their forces today at the State House for an all-out fight to restore the cut.

Fauci Salesman Held on 2 Counts

Vito F. Delaria, 38, Warren ave., Brockton, a salesman for the C. M. Fauci Co., Medford liquor concern, was held in $3000 bail today after he pleaded no guilty before a federal judge and a U. S. commissioner to violating OPA price ceilings and draft evasion.

Delaria was indicted with Charles M. Fauci, June 23, 1944, for selling liquor at prices over the ceiling. The salesman did not appear to answer the indictment. Fauci did appear and has been out on bail, until authorities could find Delaria, his co-defendant.

Fauci also served four months for price ceiling violations last year and was fined a total of $8000.

Delaria was held in $1000 by U. S. Comm. Rogers on the draft evasion charge, for a hearing July 9. Judge Healey held him in $2000 on the price ceiling indictment.

Predict Victory For Churchill

LONDON, July 2 (AP)—News-papers supporting the Conservatives wrote confidently today that Prime Minister Churchill's party would win the Thursday election, with speculation that the margin might be more than 100 seats in Parliament.

Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard stated that "favorite figures range from 100 upwards." Conservatives held 359 seats in the old Parliament, a working majority of 52.

Churchill, apparently expecting a hard fight at the polls, started a tour of London.

The Labor Party, also confident in urging their nationalization platform, scheduled mass meetings for tomorrow night with their big three, Clement Attlee, Ernest Bevin and Herbert Morrison scheduled.

4—Boston American, July 2

The fight over acceptance or rejection of the ways and means committee report is expected to develop into one of the stormiest of the present session, with supporters of the slash declaring their intention to stand pat.

The outstanding argument against the slash is that the larger sum is the minimum amount under which the new Port Authority can properly function and adequately expand the port facilities to meet postwar shipping needs and the competition from other ports.

Frederick C. Church, chairman of the Boston Port Development Committee, warned the legislators that New York is prepared to spend $1,000,000 for port expansion, and that Baltimore has been granted $50,000,000 for its port.

Other ports he listed were: Philadelphia, granted $31,000,000; New Orleans, $28,000,000, and San Francisco, $25,000,000 preliminary grant.

The State of Georgia, he said, had granted $10,000,000 for the development of Brunswick and Savannah, which handle only one-sixth of the tonnage handled at Boston.

"In view of this," he asked, "how can anyone reasonably argue that $5,000,000 is enough for Boston?"

"A strong Port Authority must be set up with funds to develop the services of our port, so that we can at least stand on an equal competitive basis with other Atlantic ports," Church pointed out.

"The $15,000,000 provided in the Port Authority Bill would be used up quickly through leases to companies ready now to negotiate. Estimates show that post-war world trade will be enormous.

"This is not a horse trade. It is good business for all of us

77th Dedicates Pyle Monument

IE SHIMA, Ryukyu Islands, July 2 (AP)—Soldiers of the 77th Infantry Division dedicated a monument today to Ernie Pyle on the spot where he was killed by a Jap sniper bullet April 18.

The concrete monument, replacing a painted board sign erected at the time of Ernie's death, bears two brass plaques made from shell casings. One contains the Statue of Liberty shoulder patch design of the 77th; the other reads:

"On this spot the 77th Infantry Division lost a buddy, Ernie Pyle, April 18, 1945."

GOP Stalled On State Bonus

After being in caucus for two hours today, the Republican majority of the State Legislature adjourned until tomorrow without reaching any agreement on its proposed state bonus for World War II veterans.

Principal subject in today's discussion was a proposal for a flat bonus payment of $100 recommended jointly by the ways and means and taxation committees of the House.

In a previous caucus last week, the Republicans discussed the possibility of supporting a proposed sliding scale of payment, ranging from $50 to $150, expected to cost between $60,000,000 and $80,000,000.

Turks at Parley Arrive Here

Arriving in Boston today, several members of the Turkish delegation to the San Francisco Conference expressed the belief the conference charter was "not perfect" but a long step toward permanent peace.

"Perhaps it is just as well it is not perfect," said Foreign Minister Hasan Saka. "For it is not wise to reach perfection at the beginning."

"In time the difficulties probably will work out and it is up to all the United Nations to meet their obligations as drawn up in the charter."

The group will sail tomorrow for England and, after a brief stop at London, will continue their journey to Ankara.

339 More Overseas Vets Dock in Hub

Ending a 13-day journey from Le Havre, during which she skirted a tropical hurricane in mid-ocean, the SS. Daniel Huger arrived at Commonwealth Pier today bringing 339 overseas veterans, 25 of them from New England, back to native soil.

The majority of the men, members of signal and quartermaster detachments, will be given 30-day furloughs before being reassigned to Pacific duty.

As the transport was nudged into the dock, the Fort of Boston Band welcomed the returning veterans with popular tunes.

Many of the soldiers broke out with jitterbug routines as they waited their turn to debark.

The returning men boarded trains for Camp Myles Standish, where they will be processed.

Massachusetts men arriving aboard the Daniel Huger were:

TS William M. Lochert, 34 High st., Florence, N. H.; TS Roger J. Provencher, 36 School st., Waltham; PFC William F. Barry, 20 Dorchester st., Dorchester; PFC Edward M. House Blocks FEPC Cash

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—The House rules committee refused today to permit the House to send to conference legislation granting $250,000 to the Fair Employment Practice Committee.

The sum was a compromise to permit continued operation of the FEPC, whose operation funds and authorization expired yesterday.

The committee's action left the bill on the speaker's table and Speaker Rayburn immediately referred it back to the appropriations committee for a recommendation.

Dies' Successor Quits Probe Job

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—Rep. Hart (D.) of New Jersey resigned today as chairman of the House committee investigating un-American activities, saying he did so on recommendation of his physician.

Rep. Rankin (D.) of Mississippi became the senior Democrat on the committee, which ordinarily would mean the chairmanship but there was no indication whether Speaker Rayburn would name Rankin.

Hart early this year succeeded Rep. Dies (D.) of Texas.

State Doubles Bond Quota

Massachusetts nearly doubled its quota in the Seventh War Loan campaign which ended formally June 30, the state war finance committee said today in announcing bonds worth $1,441,200,000 were purchased during the six-week drive.

Series E bonds lagged with only $96,700,000 or 69 per cent of the $140,000,000 quota being sold. Sales to individuals totaled $231,500,000 or 97 per cent of the goal. Corporations purchased $1,113,000,000 to soar far above the $462,000,000 quota.

Final figures will be computed at the end of this week and will include all purchases up to July 7.

Helen Hayes will appear Wednesday night at Fenway Park with the spectacular war bond show, "Here's Your Infantry," sponsored by the Boston Retail Trade Board for the benefit of the Seventh War Loan.

Fatal Taunton Wreck Probed

TAUNTON, July 2—Army and railroad authorities today probed the wreck of the New Haven's Boston-to-New Bedford train in which a fireman and engineer were killed and 54 passengers injured.

Early inquiry indicated a switch had been left open for shutting troop trains into near by Camp Myles Standish.

Two wrecking crews worked through the night and service was restored this morning with the locomotive still blocking part of the right-of-way.

Of 14 victims still hospitalized, most seriously injured was Cpl. Charles H. Nevey, 27, patient at the Camp Edwards Convalescent Hospital, who suffered five fractured ribs.

Soldiers and prisoners of war pulled the injured, many of them hysterical women, from the shattered cars.

Killed were Engineer Chester O. Wilson of Leslie st., East Braintree, and Fireman John F. Lyons of Gordon st., Jamaica Plain.

Stoneham to Honor Sgt. Hall July 4

Stoneham's Fourth of July celebration will honor S-Sgt. George J. Hall, the town's Congressional Medal of Honor winner, as well as marking the anniversary of American Independence, Chief Marshal Edwin H. Lombard of the celebration committee announced today.

The observance will start at midnight tomorrow with the lighting of a huge bonfire at Recreation Park, and the holiday feature will be a colorful street parade at 9 a. m.

Hometown Boy

KANSAS CITY, July 2 (AP)—Drill, kip, and other sundry tasks at his army camp near Greenville, N. C., kept PFC Paul Latahaw Miller, 22, from reading the Kansas City Star, his hometown paper.

When the unread papers filled all available duffel bags and were stacked by his bed, inspection officers and his buddies began to complain.

He offered the papers to the Greenville public library, the Greenville county courthouse, and a Greenville business concern. No luck. Finally he offered them to the paper salvage drive and the offer was accepted. The papers weighed 400 pounds.

Moscow Influence In U. S. Films Bared

By DAVID SENTNER

Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, July 2—A direct link between Moscow and Communist propaganda flooding the United States has been established by evidence in the hands of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, it was learned today.

The data, among other things, points to a direct Soviet influence on the American motion picture industry and will play an important part in the committee's investigation of stepped up Red subversive activities on the West coast.

As a result of the recent report on foreign propaganda in the United States by former Atty.-Gen. Biddle, committee investigators have discovered that registered agents here for the Soviet Union have also served on Communist front organizations in this country.

For instance, Charles Recht is revealed in the Biddle report to be officially registered with the State Dept. as representing the government of the Soviet Union, the Soviet Embassy in Washington, the Soviet Consulate in New York City, the Amtorg Trading Corp., Soviet Trade Agency, and Artikino Pictures, Inc., the Moscow Film Agency which conducts big business with Hollywood.

Recht is listed in the records of the House Committee on Un-American activities, as well as in the files of the FBI and other government agencies, as follows:

A financial contributor to Fight, official organ of the American League Against War and Fascism, labeled subversive by the attorney general; a member of the board of sponsors of the American League for Peace and Democracy; affiliated with the American Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born; director of the Ambijan Committee for Emergency Aid to the Soviet Union; a member of the committee on international law of the National Lawyers Guild; signer of a Red propaganda petition in support of the Moscow purge trials, and an editorial contributor to the New Masses, Red magazine.

The above groups have been branded as Communist front organizations on the floor of the House or in Congressional hearings.

Kenneth Durant is manager of the Tass Bureau, Soviet News Agency, in New York City.

Durant is listed in committee files as one of the directors of the Garland fund described as a "highly profitable source of revenue for Communist causes" in this country.

Recht also is attorney for Helen Black who is registered as a foreign agent for Sovfoto in connection with the sale of Soviet photographs and manuscripts of plays, books and articles in the United States.

House committee records list Helen Black as a member of the John Reed Club, Communist Front organization.

Sniper's Bullets Miss MacArthur

MANILA, July 2 (AP)—Gen. MacArthur braved death un-ruffled as Australian troops under his command stormed ashore at the great oil port of Balikpapan, Borneo, Sunday.

A Japanese sniper fired eight shots as MacArthur and a brigadier general coolly continued to study a grid map of the large-scale invasion operation. Others of their general staff ducked automatically.

Giant Trio Hunts Barrels As OPA Ruling Bans Suits

ROCKFORD, Ill., July 2 (AP)—Three king-size Rockford men called off their plans to picket the OPA today—they found there was a shortage of hogsheds as well as summer suitings.

Hogsheds were needed because ordinary barrels would be splintery snug fits on Sheriff Kirk S. King, 295 pounds; County Clerk James Cannell, 260, and Fred Raymer, a potato dealer, 350 pounds.

They are irked at the OPA because regulations prevent them from buying summer clothing, King declared. Normally they could buy ready-made suits at 15 per cent more than a normally built customer would pay. Now, King added, manufacturers aren't building these super jobs.

The three went to custom tailors who rejected the work because of the OPA ceilings. Under OPA rules a tailor can charge no more than the ceiling price regardless of the size of the suit. "From an 11-yard bolt," King related, "a tailor can make three regular-sized suits but only one and a half for us big boys. The ceilings cut his take in half."

Joe Infield Says 'Outfield' In Bed Just a Nightmare

KANSAS CITY, July 2 (AP)—Joe Infield, 21, ice cream plant employee, awoke this morning to find his head caught firmly in a five-inch space between bars of the footboard of his bed.

An hour later, he was freed by the combined efforts of his wife, his mother-in-law, 10 neighbors and two policemen.

"I really can't say just how I did it," Infield said, rubbing his neck. Then he looked at the narrow space between the bars.

"It's impossible!" "All I know is that he seemed to be having a nightmare," Mrs. Infield said. "I reached out to shake him awake, and there were his feet up on the pillow and his head sticking through the bars."

When the bars failed to yield to pressure, Mrs. Infield called her mother, Mrs. Addie Burkhardt, who took a look, rushed out for a hack saw and returned with 10 neighbors.

The neighbors took turns at the saw, but after 30 minutes the bed rail had only a couple of scratches. Infield's neck was nicked a couple of times when the saw slipped.

Then two policemen took over. They applied a chisel to the bar and whammed away with a heavy hammer. The bar broke cleanly.

Joe was unable to move. His wife had to pull him out.

30-Cent 'Cameras' $5000 Bomb Sights

CLEVELAND, July 2 (AP)—A boy who didn't know how to operate a "camera" he bought for 30 cents enabled police to find three of four $5000 Sperry bomb-sight lenses stolen here a month ago.

A 10-year-old shoeshine boy told police he saw a man throw the lenses he thought were cameras in a trash barrel. He retrieved them and sold them to two teen-old youths for 30 cents apiece.

Governors Hear Tobin Tax Blast

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich., July 2 (AP)—Sounding the keynote of the 37th annual governors' conference, Gov. Herbert B. Maw of Utah declared today that the American public does not want federal regulation of its life when peace comes.

Awaiting a report by Com. Harold E. Stassen, former Governor of Minnesota, on the World Security Conference at San Francisco, the governors heard Maurice J. Tobin, chief executive of Massachusetts, declare in a prepared statement that the Federal government had taken over fields of taxation that traditionally had been considered state and local in their aspects.

Tobin said many cities would be faced with "critical problems of support when war-impulsed revenues start on a downward trend."

GI Dad of British Quads Back Home

PITTSBURGH, July 2 (AP)—Sgt. William (Red) Thompson, who said last February he was the father of quadruplets born to unwed British Nora Carpenter, came home last night alone.

He declined to discuss the babies and their mother. His Pittsburgh wife, the former Eleanor Jeneman, did not meet him.

When the quads were born at Hleanor, Derbyshire, England, Thompson said he was in love with their mother, a "young member of the British Territorial Service, and wanted to marry her.

His wife has said she would not consent to a divorce.

"He's made his bed, now let him lie in it," she commented.

Miss Carpenter said in Hleanor two weeks ago she planned to bring her three babies home to her mother's home and join Thompson after his Army discharge and divorce.

Parade Tops July 4 Celebration in Hub

Boston appeared all set today to put the traditional pre-war pep and enthusiasm into Wednesday's celebration of Independence Day, with a parade and patriotic exercises highlighting the municipal observance.

The parade will follow a 10 a. m. flag-raising at City Hall. During a halt at the Granary Burying Ground, Tremont st., the graves of three signers of the Declaration of Independence will be decorated.—John Hancock, Samuel Adams and Robert Treat Paine. A trumpeter will sound taps.

The parade will then resume along Tremont, through Court and Washington sts. to the Old State House for exercises beneath the balcony. Edmund A. Blondin of Roslindale High school will read the Declaration.

Exercises at Faneuil Hall will follow, with Archbishop Richard J. Cushing delivering the oration.

From 8 to 10 p.m., a community festival will be held at the Frog Pond on the Common, the Russian Ballet dancers will appear prior to presentation of a colorful dramatization of the signing of the Declaration.

has been drawn in a greater glare of publicity than this one. It has been the subject of public comment for months. This widespread discussion has created the impression in some quarters that there were many points of disagreement among the United Nations in drafting this charter.

"Naturally, much more public attention was given to the items of disagreement than to the items of agreement. The fact is that there were comparatively few points upon which there was not accord from the very beginning. Disagreement was reduced to a minimum—and related more to methods than to principles.

"Whatever differences there were, were finally settled. They were settled by the traditionally democratic method of free exchange of opinions and points of view.

"I shall not attempt here to go into the various provisions of the charter. They have been so thoroughly discussed that I am sure you are all familiar with them. They will be so thoroughly discussed on this floor that you and the people of the nation will all have a complete expression of views.

"In your deliberations, I hope you will consider not only the words of the charter but also the spirit which gives it meaning and life.

"The objectives of the charter are clear. "It seeks to prevent future wars.

"It seeks to settle international disputes by peaceful means and in conformity with principles of justice.

"It seeks to promote worldwide progress and better standards of living.

"It seeks to remove the economic and social causes of international conflict and unrest.

"It is the product of many hands and many influences. It comes from the reality of experience in a world where one generation has failed twice to keep the peace. The lessons of that experience have been written into the document.

"The choice before the Senate is now clear. The choice is not between this charter and something else. It is between this charter and no charter at all.

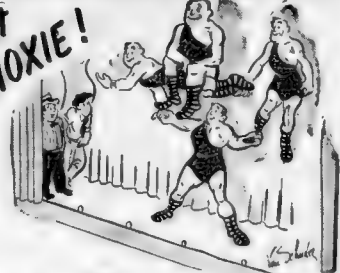

"Improvements will come in the future as the United Nations gain experience with the machinery and methods which they have set up. For this is not a static treaty. It can be improved—and, as the years go by, it will be—just as our own Constitution has been improved.

"This charter points down the only road to enduring peace

There is no other. Let us not hesitate to join hands with the peace-loving people of the earth and start down that road—with firm resolve that we can and will reach our goal.

"I urge ratification. I urge prompt ratification."

Q—Before entering the service my nephew was separated from his wife by court order, and ordered to pay $30 monthly for the support of their child. Will his wife receive Family Allowance as well as the child? Does he have to pay more than the $30 for the child? D. L. Ware

A—At the soldier and his wife are legally separated, and support was awarded by court for the child only, no Family Allowance is paid to his wife. The child is not limited by the court order, and is entitled to the full amount due a child when no payment is made to a wife—$52.00. Of this amount the soldier contributes $22.00.

Q—I receive Family Allowance for myself and three children, but I am not able to pay all of my expenses with it. I have a doctor and hospital bill to pay, besides a private loan. Is there any way in which the allowance can be increased? S. W. Fall River.

A—The amount of Family Allowance for wife and three children of a soldier is $120.00 a month. This is the maximum, and there is no way in which it can be increased. It is suggested you contact your local Red Cross Chapter for assistance with your hospital and doctor bills, and also contact the Soldier's Relief representative in your vicinity for information as to whether they can supplement you. Family Allowance for a period of time.

Q—I am receiving back all the mail I sent to my son in Europe since March. It is marked "Returning to United States. Left no forwarding address." I have received no word from him for over two months. E. C. S., Natick.

A—While the Army is returning troops to this country as fast as possible, troops and supplies going to Pacific Area have priority. Your son may be en route to the U. S. but progress of his return is subject to interruption and delay. Two months en route is not an unusual length of time in certain instances. The soldier apparently failed to leave a non-military forwarding address with his unit before starting the return.

Q—My brother was reported killed in action, but my sister-in-law received her Family Allowance for this month. I have been told that this means the boy is alive; is this so? He was killed May 13, but we were not notified until the 10th of June. G. W. T., Holliston.

A—The receipt of the Family Allowance check this month does not mean that your brother is alive. Payment is made through the month in which the report of death is received. The check your sister-in-law received in June is for May, and she is entitled to it; she will also receive a check in July for the month of June as notice of death was issued in that month, and Family Allowance is payable for the entire month.

Q—I lost my son in Luzon. Will they send his personal belongings to me? Boston.

A—Personal effects that are recovered and identified are returned to next of kin through the Army Effects Bureau, Kansas City Quartermaster Depot, Kansas City, Mo. If no next of kin is known, and no arrangements and transportation taken, the time of arrival is uncertain.

Q—My husband is in the Air Corps 4 and half years. He has 100 points and we have two children. Will he be discharged if he applies? I've been told that the Air Corps requires 110 points; is this so? R. B. Waltham.

A—The 85 points as of May 19, 1945, is the point score for consideration of discharge, including the Air Corps. Many men will not be discharged right away, however, due to difficulty in obtaining suitable replacements.

Boston American, July 2-15

'Twas Too Hot

Yesterday's heat was too much for two-year-old Sharon Vedell, of Brooklyn, N. Y., so she calmly walked out of her home, sans clothing, in search of a cool spot. Police apprehended her strolling down a busy thoroughfare and took her to the air conditioned police station. Her family called for her with suitable attire for the trip home.

Give Port $15,000,000, On the Side Don't Risk Depression

FOR NEARLY a year Massachusetts has been telling the nation and world that she was going to appropriate FIFTEEN MILLION DOLLARS to restore the Port of Boston.

An organization composed of the outstanding men of labor, business, industry and political affairs sponsored legislation for the FIFTEEN-MILLION-DOLLAR expenditure.

The Republican majority leader of the House of Representatives presented the FIFTEEN-MILLION-DOLLAR bill.

An important legislative committee approved it, with some members saying that fifteen million dollars was NOT ENOUGH.

The Democratic Governor is known to be in favor of AT LEAST FIFTEEN MILLION DOLLARS.

The Mayor of Boston has said:

"The only question at stake is one of prosperity. SHALL WE HAVE MORE OF PROSPERITY AND LESS OF RETARDED PROGRESS? I am sure, if the legislature will ask itself this serious question, THE FIFTEEN MILLION DOLLARS will be appropriated at once."

Ralph E. Flanders, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, speaking for the Executive Committee of the Greater Boston Development Committee, has declared:

"Unless we take the needed action now, it might be better to abandon the bill, wipe off the prewar volume of traffic and industrial activity which are dependent on immediate post rehabilitation, and plan only such business as can be handled by a minor, second-rate port."

IF THE House of Representatives accepts the suggestions of its Ways and Means Committee and slashes the $15,000,000 appropriation to $5,000,000, the whole nation and the whole world cannot fail to conclude that Massachusetts is not interested in her own welfare and not concerned with providing employment and prosperity for her people.

Shipping lines, hearing the news of the unwarranted reduction in port improvement funds, will surely assume that Massachusetts does not intend to construct up-to-date harbor facilities, and the shipping lines will consequently revise their postwar schedules.

In a word, THE PSYCHOLOGICAL EFFECT OF A TEN-MILLION-DOLLAR CUT IN THE PORT APPROPRIATION WOULD BE DISASTROUS.

So much harm would be done to Boston and Massachusetts that the raising of one hundred million dollars sometime next year would hardly repair the damage.

Shipping lines are preparing their postwar routes NOW.

They are concerned with what Massachusetts is doing NOW.

If Massachusetts will not provide fifteen million dollars, the MINIMUM AMOUNT needed for the port NOW, the shipping lines will surely go elsewhere, and with them will go jobs and wages that our people can ill afford to lose.

THE REPRESENTATIVE who votes to restore the FULL FIFTEEN-MILLION-DOLLAR PORT APPROPRIATION votes for the people.

But the Representative who votes for the ten-million-dollar reduction votes against the people.

If a depression comes, if people are thrown out of their jobs, if we have more debts and more breadlines, BLAME THE REPRESENTATIVES WHO VOTE AGAINST THE PEOPLE.

The best informed men and agencies in the Commonwealth have warned the Representatives what would happen if they rejected the port's development with an inadequate five-million-dollar appropriation. They know the facts. Those who vote for depression will be doing so deliberately.

Come to me in my dreams and say
Sweet words I never hear by day,

My hopes I had, my life I planned
That only you can understand.

AFTER THREE years and a half in the Pacific battle area, Sgt. Nick Lovern has arrived home in New York City for a furlough. Nick started writing to me three years ago when a private in New Guinea, and kept doing so until after he became a sergeant in the Philippines. His first letter revealed his girl, who had been clipping the column and sending it to him, had married a civilian. He asked if I could get another girl to send him the column. Which, of course, was easily arranged. Nick is home for 30 days. Then he goes back to the Pacific again.

FRECKLES: The life of a scientist certainly has its gayer moments. Or so a recent report would indicate. Some men of science have been trying to ascertain if women with freckles are more affectionate than those without freckles. Indications are that the girls with freckles are the most affectionate of females. Also, that the freckled cuties have more vitality and retain their love for love longer. It is claimed even when a freckled woman is in her fifties she likes to hold hands and go on moonlight strolls. Sounds very interesting. Can't understand why our Horses & Women files have absolutely nothing on women with freckles, except that Myrna Loy is reported to have them. I shall have to talk to our experts about this immediately.

STAR GAZERS: Will a Leo girl be happy if married to a Gemini man? asks a New Yorker. People are always asking me questions like that. All I know about it is what the star gazers allege. According to the astrologers, a Leo girl should do all right with a Gemini husband. A Gemini man needs a little firm handling. The Leo girl can take care of that. He has trouble making up his mind. The Leo lady will make up both their minds. A Gemini man is generous but demands a budget. However, he'll get no budget from a Leo wife. She will give him a kiss when he asks for an accounting and tell him not to worry about such a sordid thing as money. A Leo girl, according to the star gazers, would like to have a great lover for a husband. Gemini men are not so classed by the star gazers. However, they are said to be kind and considerate and, according to matrimonial statisticians, their husband rating is usually around 75 per cent.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS:
Q—What major city has the most people who own their own homes? A—Couldn't say definitely. Believe it is either Philadelphia or Los Angeles. . . . Q—Are you familiar with the modern maiden's prayer? A—To which of the modern maiden's prayers do you refer? Do you mean the following: "Oh Lord, bring him back safe, sound and single" . . . Q—What is the hottest place in the United States? A—Death Valley, Cal., which is also the hottest place in the world. . . . Q—What are America's three most beautiful race tracks? A—Santa Anita Park, Cal., Saratoga, N.Y., and Arlington Park, Chicago.

PLEASE NOTE: Three times during last week I have read of men in uniform being robbed and beaten up by gangs of "teen age" boys. One soldier, who was severely beaten and robbed of all his money and valuable belongings, had just arrived from three years of fighting for his country in the Pacific. I note these boy bandits referred to as "juvenile delinquents." That is too mild a term for young rats like that. It has been also said these dirty, unspeakable low-minded crooks are "victims of environment."

ASIDES: "The Male Hormone," by Paul De Kruif, is a book devoted to the discussion of the interesting possibility of men staying young longer than is usual at this time. . . . A resident of Pittsburgh is named Adolphina Philomena Goldolitz. . . . A San Francisco bachelor claims the young women of his city are the most flirtatious in the United States. He says even after marriage many of the girls in the City by the Golden Gate have difficulty in making their eyes behave.

IN A SPOT: Now I am really in a spot. I have a colonel of the infantry checking on me. He writes in part: "I believe the reason the British carry the piece on the left shoulder is that their rifle could not be comfortably carried with the barrel up and trigger in the hollow of the shoulder, as we do. However, by placing it flat on the left shoulder it balances easily. Furthermore, carrying the piece on the left shoulder makes for a smoother and snappier execution of the manual of arms. I intend checking your remarks on military matters carefully. I warn you if you ever quote a sentry as saying: 'Who goes there?' the penalty will be severe. Probably cigars for the entire officers' mess."

"Hey, I'm gettin' tired of helpin' you train to be a surgeon for after the war!"

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1935, by King Features Synd., Inc.)

NEW YORK, July 2—David G. Baird of Montclair, N. J., an insurance man with one of the largest New York firms and with offices in the Wall Street district, loaned Elliott Roosevelt $70,000 for one of Elliott's radio ventures, the Transcontinental Broadcasting System, in November, 1939.

Westbrook Pegler

Philanthropy is a hobby with Mr. Baird, who contributes to a number of charities and has established a memorial foundation in honor of a deceased member of his family.

He is a director of Hudson Motors and recently became a director of the Marine Midland Bank of New York.

Before this, in August of 1939, Mr. Baird had been instrumental in arranging a loan of $50,000 to Elliott for his Texas state network by Maxwell M. Bilofsky, a New Jersey manufacturer of radio bulbs and other radio equipment, who happened to have an amount of cash for which he was seeking investment.

Mr. Bilofsky is a member of the National Republican Club. He says William Sirovich, now deceased, the New York New Deal Congressman who has been mentioned in connection with another loan for Elliott, assured him that President Roosevelt knew about the $50,000 loan.

In January and February of 1942, after negotiations with Jesse Jones of Houston, Tex., the financier who was then Secretary of Commerce in the late President Roosevelt's cabinet, both of these loans were settled for about $30,000 which Elliott had received through liquidation of Transcontinental, a Delaware corporation. The two losers prorated the salvaged money between them.

MR. JONES performed a similar service for his friend, the President, in the settlement of a debt of $200,000 which Elliott owed John Hartford, president of the Atlantic and Pacific chain of grocery stores, for a repudiated $400,000.

Mr. Baird reported his loss of about $30,000 as a bad debt in his income tax return for 1942. Mr. Bilofsky says he did not schedule his loss which was about $28,000, as a bad debt.

This $30,000 loan was covered by five notes of $10,000 each. One of them was retired promptly on maturity and the interest on the others was paid for one year.

Mr. Baird examined the companies and satisfied himself that the $30,000 loan did go into the Texas State network and that the $70,000 was used for Transcontinental. It was covered by five notes of $14,000 each on which no interest was paid.

William Sirovich, the Democratic Congressman from New York, was instrumental in attracting the interest of Mr. Baird earlier that year. He had participated in talks with Hartford.

Elliot Roosevelt, the late brother of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, and thus Elliott's uncle, did not participate in the deal as he had in the Hartford loan, and Mr. Baird never met him.

Congressman Sirovich died on Dec. 18, 1939.

BEING UNDER no pressure from the government, Mr. Baird saw no question of propriety and therefore the President was not brought into the negotiations.

Mr. Baird says he did not meet Mr. Roosevelt until the spring of 1940 when he went to Warm Springs on a philanthropic mission and had a visit with the President and that he never discussed the loan with him.

Mr. Baird did not know about the Hartford loan which was made early in 1939.

AS TO WHETHER Elliott ever reported as income any of the money which he thus borrowed, the Treasury is not permitted to make any statement, except on a demand by Congress.

However, a Treasury regulation has been cited which holds that when a taxpayer buys back his obligations at less than their face value, the difference is taxable income.

If this were the case here, it might be contended that Elliott received an income of $196,400 on the Hartford settlement and $80,000 by way of the settlement of the other two loans at a deep discount.

On the other hand, a number of readers have written indignant letters of protest against the allowance at any time of bad debt losses where the losers do not appear to have made diligent efforts to collect the money.

And against this position, others argue that it is unfair to compel a taxpayer to throw good money after bad in hiring counsel and prosecuting a suit when it is obvious that the debtor cannot pay.

HOLLYWOOD, July 2. — I was talking to Ernest Lubitsch at Jeanette MacDonald's house and he says it is a lot of applause and rot this talk 20th will fight to get Jennifer Jones.

"We don't even start 'Cluny Brown' until September," he said, "and there never was any idea of starting earlier. The story hasn't even been finished. Jennifer Jones will have plenty of time to finish 'Duel in the Sun'."

"I don't know how rumors start like that. As for an lawsuit, well, that is just made out of whole cloth."

I learned, incidentally, that Charles Boyer, who is the romantic lead in "Cluny," gets a five-year contract with 20th. He follows this picture with "Typhoon" in which he plays a Jap, and one who commits hara-kiri rather than carry out the Japanese government's demands.

JOHN CONSIDINE, JR., takes his "Grisham" movie right back to M-G-M for production instead of making it as an independent. For this good news I say a couple of loud "Hurrahs." Johnny was with Metro for 12 years and gave them many of their very best movies.

IT IS PATHETIC to me, the way M-G-M keeps looking for an actress to take little Jean Harlow's place. They have never found one, any more than they've found a Marie Dressler. Yet they still keep trying and the latest girl to be offered a contract because she resembles Jean, is Doris Day. A well known vocalist with Les Brown's band, is one of the highest paid band vocalists in the country and collects $350 52 weeks a year, so she hesitated before signing a movie contract.

KING BROTHERS, independent producers, made so much money with "Dillinger" that they have now gone into the racing business. They bought the stable of the late Myron Selznick.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: The tempestuous romance between Jose Iturbi and Jean Dalrymple, well known New York woman producer, will be an August marriage—if all continues as serene as it is now. According to the lady, they haven't had a battle for two weeks, so when she returns from New York in August they will set the date.

WHEN MICHAEL STRONG, New Yorker, arrives in Hollywood, he'll report to two bosses—David Selznick and Hal

Wallis. They share his contract, share and share alike, but Hal gets him first, I learned on Saturday. He'll make his Hollywood debut in "The Searching Wind," the Lillian Hellman story.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: When Doris Warner Roy leaves for Reno she will be accompanied by Caroline Morris, who will obtain a divorce at the same time from Buddy Morris, music publisher. There's a whisper that Doris' next groom may be Director Charles Vidor, who recently parted from Evelyn Keyes; the Xavier Cugat-Ann Marsh engagement is no more. He is now concentrating on Isabella; is it another honeymoon for Shirley Ross and Ken Dolan? They are going to Mexico City July 12—together! Town-end Netcher and his wife have gone to Santa Barbara to spend the week-end with the Eddie Hillmans. Yes, they are remembered and every one is glad; the flame still burns for Estelle Taylor and Com. Jack Dempsey and no one will be surprised if they try it again; Sydney Blackmer and Suzanne Kaaren are expecting a baby. Remember the stormy time they had in 1937? Well, all is very lovably now; Ruth Foran Farlo gave a dinner Saturday night, honoring the foreign ministers of Peru, Ecuador, Chile and their ambassadors. Ruth's ex, Dick Foran, is at the Mayo Clinic.

haunted in the middle of the mine field, and her companion plumped near by. The latter, by the way, was a writing fellow named Ernest Hemingway, who seems to go around quite a bit, including with Miss Carson, which must be pleasant going because she is a doll I would like to go around with myself, although maybe not in a mine field. Anyway, they were sprawled there when this Hemingway asked how she would like a dry martini. "I almost spit in his eye," recalled Miss Carson, very ladylike, "because I thought he was just upping me up for interrogation. They seemed to realize I didn't know anything militarily so they grilled me about other matters."

"They asked me what the British thought of Lord Haw Haw. I told them they thought he was fine; that they listened to him every day. The Germans nodded and said that checked with their own information."

"Then—and this is no kidding—they asked me what Hess had told Churchill. I looked them straight in the eye, dropped my voice to a conspiratorial whisper, and replied: "Everything."

"They nodded again and said that checked, too. I tell you, the Germans are very serious-minded."

MR. BENNETT described an adventure with an amorously inclined German fraulein, which disappointed most of the Banishes because it came to practically nothing. Mr. Bennett said he could not understand the words uttered by the fraulein but that was all right because "her eyes spoke the basic, international language which does not require words."

I DO NOT KNOW why I forgot to mention it, because I am not blasé about high-class company, but in the audience were a number of parties you may have heard of, such as the Duke of Windsor, James Cagney and Lou Hanlon, the cartoonist.

Mr. Cagney is in the motion picture business and I understand the Duke is looking for steady work, too.

Miss Lee Carson, a very beautiful lady war correspondent, also spoke. In her flattering way she said she wished to tell a screwball story because the luncheon reminded her of screwball things.

It seems that a strafing Nazi plane prompted her and a companion to desert their jeep and take to a field which had German signs warning it was mined. As she ran, Miss Carson said she prayed:

"If I have to step on a mine, please let it be a big one so I will be blown up in one piece!" Finally, Miss Carson fell ex-

MONDAY MUSINGS: With biographies of President Roosevelt in preparation already, it is imaginable that America's precedent breaking Chief Executive will some day be the subject of as many weighty tomes as was Lincoln—or perhaps Napoleon.

In the scramble for authentic data, almost any piece of trivia concerned with the life and death of Franklin Delano Roosevelt will be important to some scrivener of the present or future.

TO THIS CORNER comes—unexpectedly, we might say—an intriguing bit of information of unimpeachable authenticity that should be passed on to readers and harvesters of Rooseveltiana. . . . When the President died, it was the family's wish that he be buried in a metal casket. . . . The White House staff was dumfounded when the funeral director informed it that a metal casket was an unobtainable item in the United States in wartime. . . . (The metal caskets had not been manufactured since 1919.)

THE SECRETARIAT tackled the problem in a thorough manner. . . . The biggest casket manufacturing firm in the country pledged its help. . . . But for more than 24 hours, the steady answer to a telephone climax of the country's distributors was in the negative. . . . And the task seemed hopeless. . . . From Georgia, the late President's adopted state, finally (and fittingly) came the heartening news that one metal casket was known to be in that state.

THE OWNER was a veteran undertaker in Atlanta. . . . A forlorned undertaker, this man can't find any other metal casket. . . . It sounds a bit macabre but this man had his heart set on preserving this prize specimen for his own use. . . . But he happened to be an admirer of the late President. . . . After some persuasion and promises, the Atlanta undertaker yielded his precious coffin. . . . The metal casket was flown to Washington.

traffic can bear for a day at the races. . . . (And losing it—the cabbies say—right where they picked it up. . . . Here the bridge chump and Pan Bayne, home in a visit from the Virgin Islands where they went in an effort to forget the loss of their only son, Donald, a fighter pilot lost in Pacific action. . . . Milton pronounced Jackie with an "i".)

THE BIRMINGHAM coming, by the way, featured the Latin Quarter's latest Celebrity Night (this event). . . . We have been listening to news lately on the high caliber of the theatrical nights at the Quarter and its "final" night club, the Mayfair. . . . None of the latest comers could have topped the latest. . . . Young Mr. Miles has something to say and he means it. . . . Mr. Miles is a quick witted wit and he is an assured performer. . . . Now, this Jewel seems to have returned to producing in the States.

MILTON BIRMINGHAM has just returned from London, England, after a week's vacation. . . . They will be back in the act at the Celebrity Night which takes place at the Pacific Coast Circuit.

WASHINGTON, July 2.

ONE of the most effective talks I have heard in a long time was given the other day by a highly-nervous young man named Lowell Bennett. His knock-knocked-together and his loose collar seemed to be choking him.

I do not know what the devil Mr. Bennett had to be nervous about. . . . Lowell Bennett cause he was facing nothing more fearful than the Banishes, an organization which gets together in New York for educational purposes, such as to watch Frankie Hyers spit a mouthful of water between his teeth.

Furthermore, Mr. Bennett should not quail before anything, much less a Banisher, because he has been through experiences calculated to render him unquailable for life.

He parachuted out of a plane at 20,000 feet, was captured by the Germans, escaped, was recaptured, escaped again, and finally was re-nabbed and spent 15 months in a German prison camp.

Incidentally, Mr. Bennett, who is a war correspondent, said prison camp existence was all right because life was so un-complex.

"That's why I'm frightened and nervous here," he explained. "In the prison camp, life was arranged for us. We didn't have to figure anything out. Now, I get back here and life seems so complex."

His cracks about the complexities of life at home interested me greatly because I have heard the same from so many others back from the wars. They don't seem quite able to explain just what they mean, but yet they feel that life here has somehow become unnecessarily complex.

I wonder what we've done to ourselves while they've been away? Or, have we remained the same, wearing blinkers as standard equipment, while they have gotten to see life more clearly?

Crop Wilting Not Serious

By FOSTER H. WEISS

It is good to remember that weeds will take a large amount of moisture and plant food from the soil unless checked.

Large weeds that got away from some gardeners because of the rainy weather must be pulled with care, especially if they are in the row or hill. Weeds have an extensive root system, and when pulled the main crop system is loosened.

New England weather is quite variable as to moisture supply. To date there has been plenty, but many will be surprised at the way soils dry out and crops wilt.

Proper management of the garden helps to conserve moisture. The first few sunny hot days will cause crops to wilt. This is due to the fact that the roots are near the surface and plants have not developed large roots because of wet soil. Wilting or the curling of leaves is nature's way of preventing too rapid a loss of water until the plant sends out more roots and creates a better balance between the root and leaf area. If there is moisture in the soil this wilting will do little harm.

There is still time to make a late planting of corn, but growers should avoid the large, slow-maturing varieties. I would suggest early hybrids such as Marcross or Spangloss as they have a tight husk and are a little more resistant to the earworm.

MORE THAN 60 servicemen had a picnic lunch followed by swimming and tennis yesterday, at an open house party given by Miss Muriel Crocker of Cohasset, assisted by junior hostesses from the village.

The Cohasset USO committee sponsoring the open houses includes Mrs. Gilbert Tower, chairman, Lt. (USNR), and Mrs. Edgar S. Van Buskirk, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mulvey; Mesdames Samuel Ayers, Roland Earle, David Fulton, Ira Pratt; and the Misses Mary Innes, Elizabeth Bristol, Ethel Bowman, Robert Little and Robert Hill.

MRS. OSGOOD PERKINS, executive director for the American Theater Wing in Boston announces that the third floor of the Russian War Relief Building at Copley Square will be the new quarters for the Boston Hospital Committee, American Theater Wing, an anonymous group organized to bring entertainment to service men in hospitals.

AMONG GUESTS present tonight for the opening of the Bass Rocks Summer Theater season will be Mrs. Ira Nelson Morris of Manchester-by-the-Sea, Miss Loretta Gashorn of Bass Rocks and Mr. A. S. Brennan.

The Marblehead Arts Association began its summer exhibitions yesterday at the King Hooper Mansion and will continue with programs on Thursday and Sunday. Contributing artists are Miss Florence V. Cannon, and Francis B. Crownshield, with Mrs. Frank J. Allen, Mrs. William Duncan, and Mrs. Francis B. Crownshield as hostesses.

Receiving birth congratulations are Lt. Frank T. Barnes, Jr., and Mrs. Barnes (Janet E. Smith), for a daughter born June 29, at Fort Benning, Ga. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Barnes, all of Winchester.

Mrs. Patrick Delay's Funeral Wednesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Patrick J. Delay, 74, for 55 years a resident of Charlestown, will be held Wednesday at 10:15 a. m. with a solemn high mass of requiem in St. Francis de Sales Church, Charlestown. She died at her home in Bunker Hill st.

Mrs. Delay leaves her husband, four sons, Court Officer John J. Delay, Judge James Delay of Roxbury court, Detective William Delay of the state police and Joseph E. Delay, treasurer of the Boston Fish Market Corp., and two daughters, Miss Mary E. Delay of Charlestown and Mrs. Howard W. Fitzpatrick of Belmont.

State Guards On Maneuvers

More than 1500 State Guardsmen, first group of the annual influx for training, today began maneuvers at Camp Michael J. O'Connor in Framingham.

Included in the first contingent were the 21st and 26th Infantry regiments, with other regiments and motor squadrons to follow each week for the rest of the month.

Major Gen. William Foley, Worcester police chief, is in charge of training, assisted by Col. Walter J. Managan.

Beauty Glamor for Hands, Feet

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

NEW FASHIONS certainly expose plenty of you for tanning . . . and call more attention to your hands and feet than ever before . . . particularly if you've taken the Grecian influence into your heart and onto your body . . . for a refreshing femininity comparable to that expressed by this top-flight model. Short slacks and pagan sandals . . . with plenty of motion for his hands and the feet demand new glorification . . . and an unusual nail polish can bring a new, alive look to your summer casuals.

TORNAI LS AND FINGER-NAI LS come in for a bit of the brilliant beauty of this summer's luscious picture. Just as exciting as the new pared-down-to-a-minimum fashions . . . just as exciting as the plenty of you exposed for tanning . . . just as exciting as the new psyche Grecian effect so dominant on the summer horizon . . . is the glory and glamor you bring to the horny coverings of your hand and leg extremities.

Take a look at the accompanying picture . . . isn't she lovely? Wouldn't YOU like to look like her as you take to the hot sands? Graceful arms and feet are an important part of the fashion picture . . . and Julianelli has done Greek sandals that expose your feet as no other shoes have ever done . . . and they do it beautifully.

If you have any desire to emulate this famous model . . . and make your fingernails and toenails as gloriously gorgeous as hers . . . you'll want a nail polish that shimmers like stardust . . . that gives a dramatic sheen to these highly publicized parts of the body. So let it punctuate the bronzed beauty of your arms and legs . . . see this new and different nail polish flicker like sunlight on a butterfly's wing . . . flash like sun-struck waters.

It is dazzling on your fingers . . . and for once your toes will look as pretty as shining little seashells. Best of all . . . this polish wears and wears and wears . . . really it does . . . although it goes on like any other polish and dries unusually fast . . . a quality that is to be appreciated in hot, humid weather. We don't know of any other polish like it . . . that glitters and sparkles with such depth of brilliance.

SEVEN SHADES

There are seven shades from which to choose. For you who wear the new pink make-up and costumes of exotic purples and fuchsias . . . there is Victorian rose. Another as dark as fire and just as dynamic is for you with a wonderfully deep tan . . . if you wear black, bright green, blue or gold so effectively.

If soft, muted tones are your calling . . . since you protect yourself from the sun's strong rays . . . heartbreak pink is a luscious shade. Select a ginger tea shade if you want a soft, coppery polish to harmonize with your honey-toned suntan. But for irrepressibly gay and exciting counterpart to summer costumes . . . there is a perfect psychic pink to match your Grecian-clothes reflection.

For the name of this most necessary beauty item for nail and toenail glamor, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

My Day By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Sunday—Friday morning I met with a group of educators who are deeply concerned that there should be no discrimination shown against ex-servicemen in the matter of higher education.

In other words, if any man has served overseas and risked his life for you and me, and wants to attend a college or a university or a graduate school, his race or religion or place of origin should have no bearing on his opportunity.

Naturally, I think this is so self-evident that it should be hard to find anyone in this country who would stand up and say that qualified veterans should not have this equal opportunity.

I HAVE A LETTER which I want to quote in part. It comes from a man in New Jersey. His religion is Jewish. On Nov. 7, 1914, his son was killed in action piloting a F-47 over Italy.

His daughter finished high school this year, and the principal told her father that her scholastic record was so high he would recommend her for any college in the country. Yet she has been refused by three colleges.

The reasons given were, on the surface, good excuses, but the high school authorities told the parents the truth. These colleges have religious quotas.

AFTER TALKING with the educators Friday morning and reading this letter, I read in the paper and heard over the radio the recurring comments on the filibuster in Congress over the FEPC bill to insure no discrimination in employment.

What is your conception of the procedures to be followed in Congress? Mine is that all men should be allowed to state their point of view.

Yet there is much work of importance to be done for the world, and it seems to me that one of the obligations of our representatives is to state their point of view as clearly and as quickly as possible, and then allow all the other representatives to stand up and be counted on the question involved.

The obstructionist methods of the filibuster seem to me to make no sense. They destroy democratic government and leave the people in the position where their representatives waste hours and days of precious time, not gaining any new information, but simply being worn out.

Finally, the leaders decide that to get important business done they must acquiesce in the views of the filibustering gentlemen, and so the people never know what is the real opinion of the majority.

This seems to me a negation of real democracy.

Bonnet A La Saddle

By BETTINA BEDWELL

SOME of the millinery designers who shape the destiny of your hats have decided to saddle your heads with bonnets in the coming months.

A bonnet that looks a lot like a saddle is one of the headline edition entries in fall millinery styles. It also has a saddle blanket under it to carry the resemblance further. This is definitely a youth fashion, and the contrivers of it say it is going to be very popular with the girls in the fall.

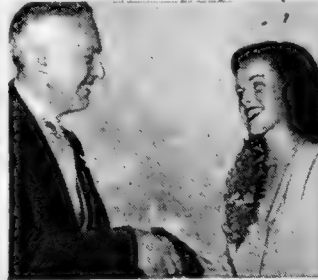

What it looks like can be seen in Miss Dulin's sketch. The little saddle bonnet is made of black felt, which lies over the head and ends in curves over the ears. Under it is a curved blue and gold brocade blanket, which is frilled at the back to cover the back hair.

Holiday Picnic

By MARTHA LEE

CELEBRATE the 4th of July this year with a picnic on the porch. It can be as simple as sandwiches, beverages, dessert, fruit, etc. And one suggestion is that you feature star sandwiches—made from slices of bread cut in star shapes. And star-shaped cookie cutter does a nice job. Or, if no cookie cutter is available, cut a star from cardboard and use it as a tracer for cutting stars with a sharp knife.

Spread these clever stars with creamy cottage cheese seasoned with a bit of chives. Then slices of stuffed olives atop the cottage cheese on the star points add a most festive touch.

SANDWICH FILLINGS

A most satisfying sandwich filling these days of rationing is egg salad. One royal member of the egg salad family is nut by adding 3 tablespoons each of chopped green pepper, celery and olives to 3 chopped hard-cooked eggs. Moisten with 3 tablespoons salad dressing and spread between slices of fresh bread.

Toasted triangles of bread spread with a smooth filling of peanut butter and currant jam satisfy those sweet appetites of picnic goers.

Any hearty appetite found lingering around the picnic table will welcome a generous sandwich made from spicy table-ready meat wedged between slices of bread. Have the table filled with several of the tasty accompaniments for these meaty sandwiches. Chili sauce, piccalilli, mustard, horseradish, and thin slices of jumbo dill pickles all give added zest to these favorite sandwiches.

Simple sandwich fillings fresh from the victory garden introduce vegetables to the picnic menu in a most inviting manner. A simple sandwich of sliced tomato and lettuce moistened with a thin spread of mayonnaise is always a favorite. Grated carrots with plump raisins, and sliced cucumbers, lettuce, and mayonnaise also do well as tasty fillings. The old time favorite of tender green onions and fresh warm bread is not to be overlooked by sandwich lovers.

SUGARLESS DROP COOKIES

1/2 cup shortening
1-3 cup light corn syrup
1-3 cup light molasses
1 egg, salt
1 tsp. vanilla
1/2 tsp. orange rind
1 egg, unbroken
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
2 cups baking powder
5 tsp. milk

Combine shortening, corn syrup, honey, salt, vanilla, orange rind and egg, and mix thoroughly. Sift flour and baking powder together. Add flour and milk to shortening mixture and beat well. Drop by teaspoonsful on shortening-coated baking sheets. Bake in hot oven (400 deg. F.) 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 2 1/2 dozen cookies.

CHOCOLATE CRUNCH COOKIES

1/2 cup shortening
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup honey or dark corn syrup
1 egg, unbroken
1/2 tsp. soda
1 cup sifted flour

1 7 or 8-oz. bar semisweet or bittersweet chocolate, cut in large pieces
1/2 cup nuts, cut

Combine shortening, salt, and vanilla. Add sugar and cream well; add honey and blend. Add egg and beat well. Sift soda with flour. Add flour to creamed mixture and mix well. Add chocolate and nuts and blend. Drop from tablespoon on shortening-coated baking sheets. Bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) 10 minutes. Makes three dozen cookies.

Note: Remove cookies from oven while soft. They should be a very light color when baked.

"I was thinkin'..."

by Izzy Ort

Fakes, you really missed something if you missed last week's big Eddie Cantor show sponsored by the Record-American.

Seeing those wounded veterans and listening to the general's swell speech had me blood way up to 232 degrees... I made a promise right then and there that I am gonna buy even more bonds, coz that's one way of slappin' a Jap... and I sure hope that every one else at the show feels the same way... Ya kno, if ya wanna see a fine assortment of veterans, visit me Grille on Essex street, downtown Boston. It's a favorite spot for the boys in blue and khaki and I've got letters from 'em all over the world tellin' me they're lookin' forward to when they kin see me Grille once more. Fellers in the service, and gals, too, it seems, like what I've got for 'em here in the way of entertainment, music and drinks. Most of all, though, I think they like the atmosphere, the spirit of fun and whoopee, the companionship and feeling of "let's all have a good time" that seem as much a part of me Grille as the bar and the dance floor. Next time you cut for a grand time, by me Grille on Essex street. Meantime, keep buyin', buyin', buyin', bonds, bonds, bonds. Advt.

Fireman Burned As 3 Holiday

Three Quincy firemen observed their day off today by fighting a fire which sent one, John Collins of West Squantum st., to the hospital. Fireman Francis Daly of Engine Co. 4, Wollaston, drove his car into the filling station of Fireman Arthur Salvucci. Fireman Collins was also there.

The motor of Daly's car suddenly burst into flames. The three tried to beat it out. Collins was burned severely on the right arm, hand and shoulder. A pedestrian turned in a fire alarm. Other firemen extinguished the blaze and Collins was removed to Quincy Hospital.

Longer Shorts

DECATUR, Ill., July 2 (AP)—Police Chief H. J. Schepper has banned abbreviated shorts on business streets.

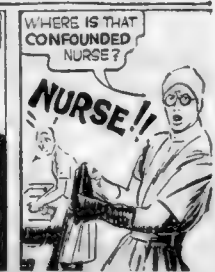

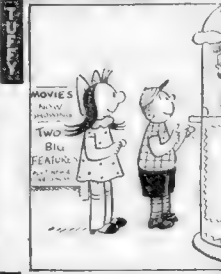

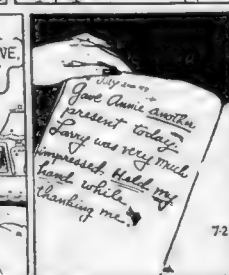

Shorts, he says, which fail to reach the knees, subject their feminine wearers to "yoohees, whistling, and improper remarks."

HENRY

Anti-Climax

KANSAS CITY, July 2 (AP) —John Givard had ants in his house — "big, fat, black ones." He lighted three sulphur candles in various parts of the house and left to watch a neighbor build a boat. Later, a passing motorist discovered the house afire. Firemen estimated the damage at $700 — everyone was smoked out but the ants.

Why Not A State Lottery Browns Blast Red Sox, 7-1

By HERB FINNEGAN

By AUSTEN LAKE

OUR BEACON HILL STATESMEN are fiddling with new tax shenanigans to pay our soldiers a home-coming bonus. These schemes vary from a flat $5 head tax on all citizens to a levy on incomes, amusements and gasoline on our already purse-punished people. What's the matter with operating a State lottery? The people have already voted overwhelmingly for it in State referendum!

In the boom days of the Irish Sweepstakes 'twent' no sin in Boston and its neighboring parishes to purchase dream-stuff in the shape of colored counterfoils from swarms of leg-agents, curbstone brokers and hallway peddlers at $2.50 the copy. The City and State never levied tribute on this traffic, although Boston was the most avid buyer of the Sweeps foils, both authentic and fraudulent.

I have heard it estimated that Boston alone poured $10,000,000 annually into the big Dublin pool, percentage of which was skimmed by private promoters who were said to have divided about $6,000,000 up to the moment when war suspended operations. About 20% of the total take went to the Irish Hospitals Fund. The rest was cut up in prize money among the lucky winners.

In fact, at the last Dublin audit, before war suspended operations, accrued profits assured every Eire native, man, woman and child, $367 against any form of illness. The Irish just couldn't get sick fast enough to spend the income. So in order to relieve this growing embarrassment of riches the De Valera government began dipping into the barrel to drain off the surplus.

How the Irish Sweeps Began

SURELY IF THE IRISH GOVERNMENT and the Irish people lost neither character or virtue by the operation of a lottery, Massachusetts would lose none of its sanctity by promoting legitimate dividends which would do nobody any moral harm, make lots of hearts happy and generally reduce the tax swelling. I have never heard of anybody buying himself into the poorhouse by playing the Sweeps, whereas I could name a lot of folk who have spent themselves into the scutched through gambling on the hazy probabilities of the dogs and horses.

The origin of the Irish Sweeps was not Irish at all, but conceived as a cerebral wrinkle in the skull of a London Englishman named Spencer Freeman, a suave, typical Britisher of the lean, acquiline type. Freeman first launched his lottery in the feudal canton of Lichtenstein, in a corner of Switzerland, where the gambling laws were rather loose and when Ireland was still under British anti-lottery regulations.

Later when the 26 counties of Ireland became the Free State and, needing new funds, legalized lotteries for charitable purposes, Freeman hot-footed it to Dublin, got himself the concession and tactfully took as partners an Irish politician named Joe McGrath and a Dublin horse broker named Dick Duggan. Then they hooked up with a local hospital, hired a building at 3 O'Connell st. and began locating leg-agents all over the world.

Pretty soon five other Dublin hospitals, being jealous by the sudden flow of riches, prepared to operate Sweeps of their own. So Freeman quickly incorporated them into his pool, gradually expanding till it embraced 48 other Irish charitable foundations. The three partners, of whom McGrath and Duggan have since expired, were entitled by Irish law to take a seven per cent chew of the gross. But wisely they preferred to accept a less noticeable amount and took two and one-half per cent, which amounted roughly to a three-way split of $6,250,000 over the stretch of years. Which, on an initial investment of $500,000 which they floated themselves, amounts to more than 1200 per cent, or a golden goose which laid 18 carat eggs.

Irish Morals Did Not Suffer

THE COST OF OPERATION WAS TRIVIAL when compared with the volume of sales, about 20 per cent of which went to charity. The wages of 2700 employees nicked the gross somewhat. The cost of merchandising the little banknote books of tickets, which were watermarked and secretly engraved against counterfeiting, ran into a tidy figure. Still the hospitals cut up more than $10,000,000 a year, after returning $37,000,000 in prize money, most of which went to Americans.

The United States post office department officially forbids the use of its mails to the Sweep promoters and made it an offense to sell or purchase lottery coupons. But the city, state and government were prompt to demand their tax-shares of individual prize winners as soon as Sweeps winners were named. Thus the government, the state and the city were never quite frank in their pretense of high morality and, by exacting a toll from the illicit trade, became silent partners in the traffic which they forbade.

I cannot see the moral difference in stepping up to a pari-mutuel wicket and buying chances on the elastic qualities of a weasel hound or athletic steed, from buying lottery chances on the same thing under state control. From this writer's personal observation the Irish Sweeps were always scrupulously conducted under supervision of a Dublin civic committee and members of the Dail. No Irishman ever seemed to be degraded much of any and a lot of fun and benefit was derived by one and all.

So, if the Beacon Hill daddies are seeking a way to pay the soldier's bonus painlessly let them look reality square in the eye-balls and lift lottery from the pseudo depths of sin to the levels of legality. It would be good both for our corporate soul and for our tax-burdened pocketbooks. It would be a painless method of providing for our soldiers while giving the people some fun for their money. What's wrong with that?

ST. LOUIS, July 2—This was a baseball oddity—a Monday doubleheader between the Red Sox and Browns, starting at 1 p. m. There will be a 5:30 p. m. curfew to allow the Sox to catch the 6:15 train for Detroit.

At the moment they are not sure of obtaining sleepers for the overnight jump. If they are not forthcoming later in the afternoon, the Sox will sit up all night in day coaches and do their sleeping in Detroit before tomorrow's twin bill there.

In today's first game, played before more juvenile patrons than grown-ups, Yank Terry (0-3) paired off against Army-discharged Sigmund Jakucki (6-5). Randy Heffin was to start the second game for the Sox, his first such role in the majors, so both Boston pitchers were seeking their first victories of the season.

Camilli continued at first base for Boston, Tobin at third. McKovich and Bucher remained on the bench for the second straight game.

Before the game, Pete Gray entertained the youngsters in the left field stands with behind-the-back catches that had them roaring with delight. When it was announced that he wouldn't play left field, the kids let out a screech that could be heard in Detroit.

Pete is quite the fans' idol here. In the second game of the Sunday doubleheader he made two clean hits, one a double, off Ryba and one off Ferriss.

The Browns won the opener, 7-1.

ST. LOUIS, July 2—There's a Johnson-Joe Wood duel in prospect tomorrow when Dave Ferris huris against Hal Newhouser in a Sox-Tigers' twilight game in Detroit. Both will be seeking their 13th victory of the campaign.

Newhouser a year ago won 29 games, was voted the most valuable player in the league. Ferris a year ago was in the Army Air Corps and never had pitched a big league game. The occasion may prove historic. Let's hope Ferris is at his best.

Ex-Yale Crew Coach Gallaudet Dies at 75

BRANFORD, Ct., July 2 (AP)—Edward Fessenden Gallaudet, 75, of Pine Orchard, an early pioneer in aeronautics and one-time Yale crew coach, died last night.

He leaves his widow, the former Marian Cockrell; two daughters, Mrs. Walter Averill Powers of Boston, and Mrs. Carleton S. Francis, Jr., of West Hartford, Mass., and a son Francis C. Gallaudet of Detroit, Mich.

Mulcahy on Way Home to Join Phils

EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, July 2 (AP)—Hugh Mulcahy, workhorse pitcher for the Phillies and the first major league to enter the armed services, is on his way back to Baker Field and the big leagues. The veteran hurler from West Newton, Mass., is a master sergeant in the Eighth Army special service section. Since he enlisted March 9, 1941, he has amassed enough points for his trip home under the Army's discharge program.

Mulcahy, now almost 32, goes back to the Phillies 20 pounds under his pitching weight. During the current baseball season in the Philippines he has pitched and won seven games but his average stint has been only a few innings and it was impossible for him to get anywhere near his top form.

There has been some gossip out here that Mulcahy may be in line for management of the Phillies. It is well known that Mulcahy has long been a close friend of general manager Herb Pennock and has been receiving numerous messages from him.

For Mulcahy it will be tough to pick up where he left off. He was selected on the National League All-Stars of 1940, and has the major-league record of having pitched 197 games and 1065 innings.

"While the rivers shall run to ocean, while the shadows shall move in the mountain valleys, while the sky shall feed the stars, always shall thy honour, and thy name, and thy glory abide."—(Virgil)

The War Department today announced, through the Office of War Information, the names of 35 casualties residing in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Maine.

Included are 12 DEAD and 23 WOUNDED IN ACTION.

Next of kin in all cases have been kept informed directly by the War Department of any change in status. In case of divergence between this list and kin's information, the last War Department telegram or letter to next of kin is authoritative.

The Navy Department, also through OWI, announced 32 casualties of the Navy and Marine Corps residing in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Maine.

Navy casualties included 18 DEAD, 12 WOUNDED IN ACTION and ONE MISSING IN ACTION.

Flee "Wild" Plane

Two flight deck crewmen of an aircraft carrier, in the Pacific, rush to cover as a "wild" plane spins toward them after crashing other craft on the deck. Two injured sailors lie sprawled on the deck after being hit by the runaway plane, which went out of control after arresting gear failed to catch it during a landing. The fleeing men were struck and seriously injured seconds after this photo was made.
